

Contents

Introduction. On Religious Nationalisms: The Staggering March from Sacralization to Politicization in Modern Spain Gregorio Alonso and Claudio Hernández Burgos	1
Chapter 1. “A People Who Need a Friar’s Permission to Read and to Think?”: Catholicism and Spanish Identity in the Encyclopédie Méthodique Debate, 1782–88 Antonio Calvo Maturana	19
Chapter 2. The Protection of the Faith and the Politics of Religion in the Reign of Fernando VII Scott Eastman	44
Chapter 3. Religion and the Nation’s Future, 1845–68 Jesús Millán and María Cruz Romeo	63
Chapter 4. Sons of the Gospel: Religiosity and Secularization in Nineteenth-Century Spanish Republicanism Ester García Moscardó	87
Chapter 5. The Catholic Clergy and Lay Associationism in the Defense of the Catholic Unity of the Spanish Nation, 1875–1913 M^a Pilar Salomón Chéliz	106
Chapter 6. Providential Dictator: Nation and Religion under Primo de Rivera, 1923–30 Alejandro Quiroga	134
Chapter 7. “Eternal Spain”: Religion, Politics, and Antifeminism in the Second Republic and the Civil War Teresa María Ortega López	157

Chapter 8. Nation, Faith, and Devotions: Sacralized Mobilization and Patriotic Restoration during the Spanish Civil War	178
César Rina Simón
Chapter 9. Catholicism, Democracy, and Nation in the Spain of the Latter Part of the Twentieth Century	200
Vicente Jesús Díaz Burillo and Alicia Muñoz Ramírez
Conclusion. Religious Nationalisms in the Age of Disenchantment
Gregorio Alonso and Claudio Hernández Burgos	223
Index	231