

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Foreword Erika Feller	viii
Preface	x
List of Abbreviations and Short Titles	xii
Introduction. ‘Humanitarian Responses’ to Refugees in Southeast Asia Susan Kneebone, Max Walden, Reyvi Mariñas and Antje Missbach	1
Part I. Historical Moments and Perspectives on Refugee Protection in Southeast Asia
1. The Limits of Refugee Protection in Urban Southeast Asia: A View from Above and Below Itty Abraham	33
2. Asylum and Refugee Protection in Thailand’s History: Between Sovereignty and Humanitarianism Bongkot Napaumporn and Susan Kneebone	55
Appendix. Groups of Post-Second World War Refugees and Other Ethnic Minorities, and Protection Provided to Them in the Past	74
3. ‘Partial Protection’ for Refugees: Aspirations of Refugee Activists in Indonesia Realisa D. Masardi	89

Part II. Country Studies

- 4. A Responsible Sovereign? Between Sovereignty and Responsibility in Refugee and Asylum Seeker Protection in Indonesia –The Case of the Presidential Regulation No. 125 of 2016 117
Hestutomo Restu Kuncoro and Atin Prabandari

- 5. Approaching Thailand’s National Screening Mechanism through Affective Governmentality: Protection and Competent Governance or Maintaining the Status Quo? 140
Kate Coddington

- 6. The (Un)Official Refugee Protection Regimes in Malaysia: What Is the Way Forward? 159
Gerhard Hoffstaedter and Aslam Abd Jalil

Part III. The Refugee Convention: Protection by Nonstate Actors

- 7. Are Sovereignty and Humanitarianism Mutually Exclusive? An Exploration of the Role of Civil Society in Bridging the Gap 185
David Keegan, Evan Jones and Mitra Khakbaz

- 8. The Asia Pacific Refugee Rights Network and the Promotion of Refugee Rights in Southeast Asia 210
Savitri Taylor

- Appendix. The APRRN’s Organizational Structure and Governance as in 2021 228

- 9. Nonstate Actors’ Practices and Agency in Indonesian Refugee Protection: The Importance of Communities of Practice 237
Nino Viartasiwi

Part IV. Concluding

- 10. Sovereign States and Refugee Rights Protection in ASEAN 267
Sriprapha Petcharamesree

- Conclusion: Sovereignty, Responsibility and Human Rights 297
Susan Kneebone, Reyvi Mariñas and Max Walden

- Index* 315